DARING LEAP OF MAN IN WHITE FROM ROOF

Unknown Man Jumps From Four-story Building and Misses Life Net—Body Hits Iron Bars.

Daredevil stunts are following each other with such rapid succession in Mishawaka that the calm citizen is wondering where the end will be. A man clad in white dove from the roof of the Phoenix block into the street below, crashing his lifeless body against an iron rail at the side of the building. The life-net that was held by eager hands was too small and the daring diver missed it by a few inches. Now pause you gatherers for the line, it was his lifeless body that struck as ye shall learn.

It was all to advertise the big kangaroo court, the mock trial to be held at the Textile building Thursday evening to decide "Who Stole Casbon's Car?" Placards advertised the great dive as a thrilling advertiser for the trial. The time came and the crowd assembled. The band finished the national anthem when a figure clad in white appeared at the top of the Phoenix block and announced that it would dive into the net below. The man said he would step back and run out on a short plank and then dive. He stepped back and then a white figure dashed over the plank and into the street below. It was done so quick that the crowd was dumfounded. When it regained its breath and rushed forward expecting to find the mangled body of the diver, only saw dust and exclamation marks in the air where blood was expected. So the "lifeless" body struck.

The crowd went about its way following the dive, but the men behind them in secret conclave in the office of Dr. Irwin to make arrangements for the trial Thursday. Dr. Irwin was appointed chairman of the meeting. Darwin Beyer secretary, and L. J. Casbon, treasurer. Committees were then appointed to care for the decorations and seating at the hall, the parade, publicity, and other features. The committee's entrance was then discussed. It was decided to invite all physicians to sit on the jury at the trial. The judge has not yet been decided upon. Local lawyers will probably form the legal talent for both sides.

A short parade was also decided upon. In this parade a patrol wagon to be used at the trial will form an important part. The parade will be held at the Textile building and if the prisoner is found guilty he will be immediately imprisoned.

MOOSE CANDIDATE GETS LET DOWN BY TRIBUNE

Organ of Citizens' Movement Gives But Short Notice of Bull Moose Announcement.

Although eager in the extreme during the campaign of 1912 to give the greatest amount of publicity to any bull moose movement, the local manager of the Tribune announced the candidacy of Charles Behse for mayor on the progressive ticket with an article but a few lines in length Monday evening. Evidently the Tribune man had figured that all progressives would fall for the citizens' movement as he did in the first few days of its inception. When several of the tried and true progressives Saturday rebelled at the idea of a small clique controlling the destinies of the progressive party here and determined to enter the city campaign, the Tribune reporter was taken aback and promptly began a search for land.

The fact of Mr. Behse's candidacy was then attempted to be discredited in the article which stated that up until 11 o'clock the candidate's petition had not been filed. The remainder of the loyal progressives will have no effect on the plans of the republicans and deserting bull moose, of which the Tribune reporter is one, in forming a citizens' ticket.

Congratulatory comments were heard on every hand Monday upon the action of the loyal progressives in determining to keep up the ideals of the party as set down in last year's campaign and refuse to listen to the dictates of the citizens' ticket organ which it is alleged is trying to promote union tickets not only in South Bend but in every city within reach in the coming campaign.

It is said that the idea of forming a citizens' party here was for the purpose of healing the sores of progressives and republicans who were too hasty in the last campaign. Practically all action that has been taken in regard to the union ticket has been the outgrowth of secret meetings and conferences of small cliques of men. And it is said that practically all of these men are candidates for some thing or another in the coming election.

Meetings of the republicans and citizens-progressives have been called for this week. The former will meet Tuesday and the latter Wednesday evenings. The reports of the committees which recently conferred behind closed doors will be read and the decision of the bosses of the party will probably be railroaded through with the acclamatory assent of all present.

The republicans seem to be in earnest in their desire to try a union combination as the party seems to be united. The progressives are in a quandary, however, and it is not expected that many more save the committee will be present at their meeting Wednesday as the greater number of erstwhile progressives who could be interviewed stated that they would wait developments before becoming actively identified with any movement.

FOOTBALL SEASON ON AT BIG EASTERN COLLEGES

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The 1913 football season of the big eastern colleges has begun and it will be going along under full steam before another week has rolled around. From all the colleges comes reports of some excellent "green" material and it is expected that this season will develop some of the most wonderful players that ever donned the moleskins. A huge squad turned out for practice again at West Point, where Coach Charles Daly, one of the most famous quarterbacks in gridiron history is sending the candidates through some terrific paces for so early in the season.

Capt. "Hobey" Baker of the Princeton team superintended the practice at Princeton, and showed that his booting leg has lost none of its cunning.

The Dartmouth coaches are working out the line up this morning. Most of the linemen on last year's team graduated and new men must be developed to take their places. There are a number of likely candidates in the big squad that has turned out.

EMMA GIOMI IS STILL LEADING QUEEN CONTEST

The contest for the honor of being queen of the Fall Exposition is attracting much interest. When the ballots were counted at midnight Monday exactly 95 contestants were found to have been entered. Owing to the large number of ballots it was found impractical to tabulate for publication a complete list of the names but the committee will endeavor to do this when the next count is made Wednesday night.

Three young ladies started off with over 100 votes, placing them among the leaders. Freda Frank, Jennie Willard and Eva Jackson were the fortunate ones. The standing of the 11 highest is as follows:

Emma Gioni	371
Florence Meyers	248
Jane Smith	238
Annetta Riddle	233
Ester Kaplin	193
Jennie Willard	186
Lena Ecken	153
Cecelia Silber	143
Freda Frank	139
Violet Brooks	137
Eva Jackson	132

It was decided, in all fairness, to eliminate any one connected with a motion picture or theater, where the ballot is cast, and these votes will not be recognized hereafter. A surprise is promised in the next few days by the entry of a very popular young lady whose name has not been mentioned up to this time.
